This is determined by a user preference input. I then have a formula that tests the number of decimals to remove. So far, everything works fine. Here's the formula: =ROUNDUP(ROUNDDOWN(A1,0),1) The issue I'm having is that I need to make an adjustment to that formula depending on which one was inputted. So far, I've tried this: If Range("g1") = "4" Then Text_Number = ROUNDUP(ROUNDDOWN(A1,0),1) Else Text_Number = ROUNDUP(ROUNDDOWN(A1,0),2) End If This isn't working though. I'm getting an error I can't seem to find a solution for. The following is the error I get: Application Defined or Object defined error Also, I'm new to VBA, so any criticism or input you have is appreciated. Edit: I figured out what the error was, for anyone else with this issue down the road, it was that I needed to use "Long" instead of "Integer". Something I should have known. Thanks for everyone

Field of the Invention The invention relates generally to electrical connectors and, particularly, to an electrical connector with a power-through bus. 2. Description of the Related Art Conventional methods of supplying power to devices from an AC power source typically involve the use of a power cord. As shown in FIG. 1, a conventional AC power supply 10 utilizes a conventional power cord 12 that is plugged into an AC outlet 13 of a wall-mounted receptacle. The AC power source 10 then distributes AC power to a device (not shown) via the power cord 12, and wires in the power cord 12. Power cords reduce flexibility in power supply options. For example, plugging the power cord 12 into an AC outlet 13 of a building receptacle 14 could be undesirable when power is supplied from a wall-mounted AC power source. In addition, as shown in FIG. 2, conventional systems for supplying power to devices are limited in the amount of power that can be drawn from the wall receptacle 14 and supplied to the power cord 12. Alternatively, conventional systems may utilize a conventional bus connector that supplies power to a plurality of devices, such as a printing device, from a wall-mounted AC power source. However, conventional systems utilizing a bus connector also suffer from various drawbacks, such as the inability to draw sufficient amounts of power from the wall-mounted AC power source. Conventional systems have also had problems with safety issues, such as the potential for electrical shock. As shown in FIG. 3, conventional power
