Although Avast Endpoint Protection Plus is not specifically designed to prevent Trojans or other malware or adware, it will also detect threats that might lead to this, as long as the infected machine is on the network. The program features a clean and modern user interface, allowing you to quickly access its most important components from the main window. As such, you can use the 'Scan' tool, customize your 'Firewall', work in the 'Sandbox' or access the 'SafeZone'. avast! Endpoint Protection Plus offers multiple 'Shields' which can be individually activated or deactivated, their aim being to safeguard your local and online activity against outside threats. The 'File System Shield', 'Mail Shield', 'Web Shield', 'P2P Shield', 'IM Shield', 'Network Shield', 'Script Shield' or 'Behavior Shield' to make sure you are constantly at bay from any danger. You can also enable the 'Antispam' module to filter out unwanted messages from your inbox. From the 'Firewall' section, you can configure the risk zones regarding your 'Network Connections', 'Application Rules' or 'Network Utilities'. Other tools include the 'Sandbox', an area where you can run any program you want, including potentially dangerous ones without them having effects on your system. Similarly, you can work in the 'SafeZone' when you wish to perform online transactions, as they require an added level of security. The 'Site Blocking' feature allows you to create a blacklist of forbidden websites. Also, avast! Endpoint Protection Plus offers a 'Remote Assistance' component which enables you to connect to another computer running the same anti-virus, using the code generated by the targeted machine. Data cleaning tool Additionally, avast! Endpoint Protection Plus also features a 'Data Cleaning Tool' which enables you to remove temporary files, cookies, cache, browsing history, history from installed programs or other unwanted elements. avast!
