The Legend of the Elden Ring takes place before the events of FINAL FANTASY XII, in the Lands Between. A myth that was never resolved: The three Elden Rings that first lifted the barrier to the Lands Between. A boy found the legendary cryo-grape, the legendary sword Amrita, and the Orb. All three of them were stolen by another, the Xland. The boy fled, and to this day, no one knows the whereabouts of the stolen items. I'm so glad that I got to work on it with the talented developers at FromSoftware, whom I've long wanted to work with. I'm thrilled that the game takes place in the Lands Between, where I've got this fantastic universe to show off." Untargeted metabolomics using capillary electrophoresis-high resolution mass spectrometry with at-line data-dependent data acquisition. Capillary electrophoresis (CE)-high resolution mass spectrometry (HRMS) was used for the characterization of the metabolic profile of cereals and legumes, based on 12 samples per species (wheat, barley, lentil, quinoa and chickpea). The separation was performed by capillary zone electrophoresis. On-line UV and mass spectra were acquired using sheath liquid (methanol/water) and electrospray positive mode. The stability of the CE-HRMS was evaluated by the analysis of N(2)-glucose (2mM) in water, water/acetonitrile (98:2, v/v) and acetonitrile over a 24h time course. On-line UV monitoring at 220nm and MS detection was optimized for a better MS detection. The CE-HRMS used a capillary inner diameter of 50µm and a total length of 48cm with a separation voltage of -20kV. The optimum CE separation conditions were 200mM ammonium formate, pH 4.5, containing 500mM triethanolamine. Analytical stability was assessed at 0% of a 20% variability of the UV signal over a 24h time course. The three different sample preparations were analyzed: a free extraction of 1g sample powder, 2g after polyvinylpolypyrrolidone (PVPP) precipitation and 6g after polyvinylpolypyrrolidone precipitation and protein precipitation using methanol and chloroform/methanol. Data analysis was carried out by using TagFinder software. This untargeted approach is complementary to targeted metabolomics studies and presents the possibility of using global screening, which could identify the trend of metabolites in small sample sizes.
