Can 1:1:1:1 be an option in the scene view or only in the drawing window? 3. When importing a file as xyz is there a way to have the import create the view set as uvw or the view found on the file? If there is a way please let me know how to do this. 4. I have the ability to create from the command line. In SQL Server I have a trigger to prevent autogenerated id values. CREATE TRIGGER my_TRG ON [dbo].[my_table] AFTER INSERT AS BEGIN SET NOCOUNT ON; DECLARE @Id INT = SELECT CAST(MAX(ID) AS INT) FROM [dbo].[my_table]; SET NOCOUNT OFF; INSERT INTO [dbo].[my_table] ([id]) VALUES (@Id) SELECT CAST(MAX(ID) AS INT) + 1 FROM [dbo].[my_table] END This way the trigger is called after each insert and stores the id from the last insert to the row. I'm trying to set up a PHP app to read the id from the last row inserted. The error I get is: Warning: mysql_fetch_array(): supplied argument is not a valid MySQL result resource in /var/www/test.php on line 8 I have tried setting the connection with a PDO (I also have the same error) but I have also tried to set the ID as the default value and used mysql_insert_id() but I don't get any value. Any help is appreciated. A: The answer to your problem was here. Just use: SELECT LAST_INSERT_ID(); PHP 5.4 and newer versions can also fetch LAST_INSERT_ID() from INSERTED. A couple of weeks ago, I wrote a post about our community building efforts in Asia, and even though it was before I'd even returned to the US, I'm happy to say that we've made a lot of ca3bfb1094

But I am unable to clone or push to gitlab repo on Azure VM from my local machine. I am using GitLab Runner to run the job. Any pointers on what I am doing wrong would be of great help. A: Change the GitLab repository URL to This will work if the GitLab repository URL you have set is for Electrical isolation of two cells by a single Y-junction. A charge-free device for electrical isolation of two cells in series has been realized by combining a single Y-junction and a field-effect transistor. The prototype consists of a silicon wafer in which a channel of the transistor is formed by introducing an N-type buried layer and an N-type epitaxial layer. A p-type high-resistivity layer is also formed by ion implantation so that the p-type channel of the transistor is connected to a cell capacitor, in which an oxide dielectric film is formed between the two cells. When no current flows between the source and drain of the transistor, the channel is isolated from the substrate and the cell capacitors connected to the p-type channel. In contrast, when a current flows, the channel is electrically connected to the capacitor, so that the cell capacitors connected to the channel are short-circuited. The effect of applying a forward bias voltage to the gate of the transistor was also investigated. The energy barrier of the interface between the dielectric and the channel was found to be higher when the forward bias voltage was applied.--- layout: "docs" page_title: "Configuration: Multi-Datacenter" sidebar_current: "docs-internals-multi-dc" description: |- The multi-datacenter plugin allows Terraform to replicate configuration across multiple datacenters. --- # Configuration: Multi-Datacenter The multi-datacenter plugin allows Terraform to
